

About Us

Welcome to the home of squash and racketball in Jersey. We are a family friendly club based in St Clement with modern facilities and a thriving social scene.

Squash

Squash is a genuinely global sport. It is played by almost 20 million people in around 150 countries on almost 50,000 courts, embracing all continents. It is a growth sport, having seen worldwide participation expanding substantially in the last ten years.

In Jersey, squash boasts a reach of 15,000 children in both primary and secondary schools through Jersey Squash and Racketballs' development scheme. Jersey has played host to both male and female world champions.

Racketball

Racketball is the fastest growing racket sport in the UK. There is a thriving racketball community at the club which includes individual, team coaching and group sessions.

Racketball is very similar to squash, but is played with a slightly larger racket and a bigger, bouncier ball, making it easier on the joints and easier to play. This ensures a good workout for both players, so if you have never picked up a racket before, or the old wooden racket is gathering dust, grab a friend and get on court.

Our Professional

Nick Taylor

Director of Squash & Racketball and Head Coach

Since turning professional in 1988, Nick has enjoyed an extremely successful squash career, reaching a career high world ranking of 14 and an England ranking of 3. During his touring career, Nick won 10 PSA world tour titles, was European squash champion in 1995 and 1996 and reached the finals of the British Nationals in 1995 and 2001. Nick represented the English national squash team, earning 9 caps and is the holder of 7 masters national titles.

Nick retired as a touring professional in 2004, achieved his Level 3 coaching certificate, and set up the Nick Taylor Squash Academy at Sportcity, Manchester. After holding several posts in and around the Manchester area, Nick was appointed as Jersey's Director of Squash & Racketball in 2008.

Nick is in charge of the Squash & Racketball Development Programme and has introduced squash to thousands of children in the Island, running mini-squash festivals in primary schools and introducing a secondary school team league. Nick coaches the Junior Squash Academy as well as offering private lessons.

Nick's coaching philosophy is to "Create an environment for players to love the game. Don't coach somebody too much, create an environment for them to learn and discover by themselves. Our programme is endorsed by many world top players including world champions and world number 1's and UK's governing body England squash and racketball"

54 JERSEY EVENING POST WEDNESDAY 15 OCTOBER 2014

SPORT

'We worked out that on average these visitors spend about £550 each while they're here, so events like this are massive for the Island'

This year's Jersey Squash Festival has again highlighted the importance of sports tourism. PICTURE: DAVID FERGUSON (31/10/14)

HEAVING just witnessed an estimated 250 players and spectators flock to the Island for the Jersey Festival of Squash, the longest running of its kind.

The Jersey director of sports business that these offers visited for the event, which was held at four different venues across the island, would be a welcome sight for any person. Squash is a sport that has been on the Island since the 1800s.

Taylor said: "Sports tourism is very important and should be taken seriously. It's not just this event though... there are other smaller sports festivals that attract people to Jersey."

"This event is vital for the club in terms of funding but it's not just the club that benefits. All those players step in to help support the sport."

"These guys spend three nights in a hotel on an island for meals and drinks and it's all supporting the local economy."

The weekend just that on average these visitors spend about £550 each while they're here, so events like this are massive for the Island."

Taylor continued for the director of sports business, who said the event was a success for the Island. He said: "We've had teams that have been coming to the Island for over ten years and they said this was the best festival they've ever seen."

He said a big thing to try and do in this year including holding a doubles exhibition match on the Saturday night which went down really well.

Taylor said it was a big job that showed that the teams were enjoying this year. The winners of the men's and women's professional which meant that Mike Hughes (England) finished runner-up in the Jersey Closed event earlier this month but he did the number four for the men's and the number one for the women's last year which shows how strong they were this time.

Multiple benefits ... for the Island

Festival of Squash
 by Tom Miller

"We've had teams that have been coming to the Island for over ten years and they said this was the best festival ever"

Director of squash Nick Taylor

"We're lucky to have world class sports facilities in Jersey and that all the visiting players said they'd love to have similar at their clubs back home, which is really good to hear."

"The best bits of players who've never been to Jersey before and some players through their own doing and if you don't get the best presentation of players on the Island so as the festival continues. Some teams even brought spectators who didn't play but just wanted to visit Jersey and enjoy the weekend."

Last year's defeated finalists, Horsham Sports beat Jersey 4-2 in the Division 1 final as the Jersey 111 trounced Jersey 112 in the Division 1 final. Jersey 111 trounced Jersey 112 in the Division 1 final, which means Jersey 111 won Division 1 with a 4-1 defeat of Jersey 112.

Getting everyone down to the Jersey Squash Club for the final day proved a popular move from organisers. PICTURE: TOM MILLER
